Which of these people will go to the electric chair?

ILL it be Jennie Follett, the artist's model? Will it be Teddy Follett, her young brother, or Hubert Wray, the sculptor for whom Jennie poses? Will it be proud Mrs. Collingham, the banker's wife or Bob Collingham; her son, in love with Jennie? You'll have to read "The Empty Sack," Basil King's new novel beginning in March Cosmopolitan, to find out which of these normal, average Americans commits a murder that eventually leads to the Room with the Little Green Door.

Where a little love buys a square meal

The Cafe Germania in Vienna, the City of Death-lively groups of boisterous men and starving women -outside, wretched figures hurrying through dark streets in a cold drizzle of rain. "That's what they've come for," Lieutenant Bramber said to Sir Philip Gibbs as they sipped their Niersteiner, "Thar's why they're flirting with foreign officers. A little love in return for a square meal!" Then, there was one girl who was "different." She was "The Madonna of the Hungry Child." Read Sir Philip Gibbs' dramatic narrative in March Cosmopolitan. You can buy it today.

How many ribs has a man?

Has a man one less rib than a woman? Have you ever really seen a mad dog? Does a person actually come up three times before drowning? Do you believe in mind-reading, clairvoyancy, spiritualism, or palmistry? Are you credulous or superstitious? No marter what your pet fallacy may be, let Fred C. Kelly tell you what he thinks about the thousand and one things people believe in without ever knowing whether they are true or false. Read "Do We Like to Be Fooled" in the March issue of Cosmopolitan.

Read these things in March Cosmopolitan, but remember that it isn't any one of them that makes this America's Greatest Magazine—it's all of them two distinguished novels, six uncommon features and five unusual stories are in this one big number.
